

E03

The program is very similar to the one presented in E02. Anyhow, this time the signal handler need not to be redefined, since we use the `sem_timedwait` function which already manages this situation: in fact, we only need to check whether the return value is `-1` and the `errno` variable has been set to `ETIMEDOUT`.